

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A transmission system and a method of correctly transmitting scan data within a scanner. The transmission system includes a synchronous dynamic memory and a buffer unit. The synchronous dynamic memory serves not only as a storage unit for 5 holding data, but also provides a masking function for processing the last remaining scan data. The buffer unit is coupled to the synchronous dynamic memory for holding the scan data sent by the synchronous dynamic memory.